School Board Beats Government; Registrar Cuts Total Precincts

The Lemon Grove school board overwhelmed the Registrar of Voters and was successful in having him reduce the number of precincts for the April 18 election from eleven to seven—the same number the district had last election.

The Board argued that approximately 500 voters turn out for school board elections. The cost for each precinct and its officers is $75. Eleven precincts would give each an average of 46 voters. Too much bureaucracy the Board insisted. The Registrar finally concurred.

In other business Monday night at the regular meeting the Board approved a Peace Corp program for the 6th, 7th, and 8th grades of the district. Students will raise $1,000 for materials to build a school in South America. Fund-raising, the Board was told, will be built around the L.G. Kiwanis club pankcake Day project.

The school calendar was set for the coming year. School will open Sept. 11, provide 178 teaching days, and will close June 13, 1968.

Meanwhile, sumer school will be operated as usual. Louis Poluzzi and Wiley Cornelius will be summer school principals.

Two Lemon Grove families will have duties at the first annual installation dinner-dance of the San Diego County Veterinary Medical Association Saturday. The afair will be in the Cove Room at Vacation Village. The families are Dr. and Mrs. Richard Howard, and Dr. and Mrs. Frank Kenney.

Mrs. Ralph Vierheller, of Whittier, State auxiliary president will install the women and her husband, Dr. Vierheller, will install the men.

Anti-Noise Ordinance Hearing Set for March

County Supervisors will hold a public hearing on a proposed anti-noise ordinance at 11 a.m. on March 14.

Sheriff Joseph O'Connor has asked for such an ordinance to give his officers more power to enforce anti-noise regulations in public places but he said he especially needs controls over such things as jam sessions on private property.

Supervisor Henry A. Boney said he had received many complaints about noise, especially about motor bikes and motorcycles.

The proposed county ordinance would call for the muffling of all engines. This regulation parallels rules in the state Vehicle Code to a large extent.

'Kick-Off' Dinner To Be Re-scheduled

The Lemon Grove Chamber of Commerce "Kick-Off" dinner to promote the 1967 edition of "Old Time Days" has been postponed because of conflicting events.

The dinner was scheduled for the Bowlero Saturday. Old Time Days is scheduled for May 25, 26, and 27.

Catherine Gee, kick-off dinner chairman, said the event will be rescheduled as soon as local organizations can be contacted for a preferred date.

Light District In S.V. Wins OK

The Board of Supervisors Monday initiated action to form a Lighting Maintenance District in Spring Valley.

The new district was requested by the Spring Valley Women's Club who circulated petitions which were signed by the owners of 36.75 per cent of the assessed valuation. Whales to romantic Tahiti, as between Campo and Valencia.

The total is not enough to permit annexation to the existing Lighting District but is enough to form the new one.

The board will hold hearings on the district formation.

The club women, it was said, want the street lighting to act as a deterent to crime and vandalism.

The Spring Valley Lighting District contains six non-contiguous areas on both sides of Sweetwater Road between Jamacha Blvd. and Valencia St.

Tax rates for lighting districts run generally from 15 to 20 cents per $100 of assessed valuation.

Grossmont Features Dual Film Program

Grossmont College will present the British film, "Lord of The Flies,' at 8 p.m., Jan. 25. in the Fine Arts Lecture Hall.

Based on William Golding's novel, the film depicts a group of upper-class English school boys, survivors of a crash on an uninhabited island, as they revert to savagery.

"Un Chien Andalou" (An Andalusian Dog), a mini-film produced in 1928 by Luis Bunuel and Salvador Dali will be shown with "Lord of the Flies.' Its purpose was to shock, and the artists poured into it all of their obsessions and the images of their personal mythology.

As conceived, the film consists of series of gags—gags that defy rational explanation. In the words of Dali, the film "ruined in a single evening, ten years of pseudo-intellectual postwar avante guardism.', It has since earned a place as one of the three cinema classics.

The public is invited to attend this Fine Film Series presentation on the college's Fletcher Hills campus. Price of admission will be $1 with tickets available at the door.

MV Booster's Club Spearheads Drive to Finance Bleachers

Monte Vista High School's Parents Boosters' Club has agreed to spearhead a drive to construct concrete bletchers on the school's athletic field, Club President Charles Brodwolf said today.

The pre-stressed concrete seats could be finished in time for graduation this spring, Brodwolf said. Engineers are now preparing drawings.

The school's athletic field was completed in 1961, but has not been used for large scale spectator events because funds were not available to build seats, Principal R. C. Brady said. With the addition of bleachers, the field would be used for outdoor assemblies, afternoon athletic evens, commencement exercises and other community events.

The long range goal is for a full tthletic stadium, including lights for night events, Brady said.

Mrs. Larry Julihn, chairman of the Boosters' Club's ways and means committee, will direct fund-raising activities for the seating project. Since the club is incorporaing as a non-profit group, all contributions toward the seats will be tax-deducible, she said.

Individutls and organizations interested in supporting the project should contact the school's adminisration office for further information.

'TAC' Job Project Draws 1,500 in S.D.

The Total Action Committee ("TAC") Starter Job Training Project plans to followup in March on results of its successful Job Clinic.

The clinic, held Jan. 18, in Memorial Recreation Center, 2902 Marcy Ave. attracted more than 1,500 persons. "Hard-core" unemployed of all ethnic and racial groups lined the block bounded by 30th and 28th Sts. Many stood three hours in cool weather to receive job information and applications from 12 major area employers.

Jessie Albritten, "TAC" Starter director, said the turnout refuted the belief prevalent among employers that the hard-core don't want to work. Hard-core persons are those who for various reasons have become dscouraged in seeking jobs.

Albritten said "TAC" starter officials collected names and addresses and telephone numbers of each job-seeker. "TAC" Starter will canvass the jobless in March to find out how many have been referred from the Job Clinic", Albritten said. Albritten also announced that his agency will continue to accept applications for its new training sessio. More than 2,000 persons already have applied for training in the project, which currently has 50 heads of families placed in small businesses in Southeast San Diego. Participants are being trained in such fields as upholstry, auto mechanics, clerical work and sales.

Goodwin College Action Law Can Avert Tuition Charges

Fast-breaking developments in the field of college education makes prognostication, and advice-giving exertemely hazardous, but we'll try.

In the broad picture there is Dr. Clark Kerr, the newly fired president of University of California colleges. He was fired Friday by UC's Board of Regents from his $45,000 a year job.

Dr. Kerr had offered his resignation following the 1964-1965 uprisings at Berkeley. Governor Brown, and the regents, at the time, showed a remarkable lack of fortitude by being bullied by this outwardly meek man. Dr. Kerr should have been fired on the spot for condoning and supporting the "right" to demonstrate, sit in, lie in, carry banners, and to display and use filthy four-letter words on the Berkley campus.

Sincethen, national publications and others have taken note of the growing permissiveness of many things, including wider sexual freedom on many campuses.

Inevitably, the weakness of the regents, and Gov. Brown eventually led to the flouting of trustees' ban on the communist speaker earlier this month on the Grossmont campus.

The Grossmont rebellion served a useful purpose only to the extent that it showed the trustees that law and order needs tightening there as well as at Berkeley and other campuses.

When Gov. Reagan thoughtfully suggested that tuition is one way of holding taxpayers' rising expense for his support of college education in California, Dr. Kerr acted as rebellious as some of his students had. He petulently closed admissions in a show of defiance to his superiors.

He did this only to browbeat the regents, and Gov. Reagan since neither a budget cut nor a tuition charge had been ordered.

Unquestionably, Brown's loss of the governorship was in a large part caused by his weakness in dealing with the college problem. If Reagan's administration were to continue this laxity, a breakdown of respect and public support would eventually extend all the way down to the smallest elementary school district.

So much for moralizing. Now for a possible solution.

Following a discussion with one of our many editorial advisors, we are proposing a program schedule that will provide the ultimate in academic freedom while eliminating the need for higher education charges.

It is the Goodwin College Action Law. It is based on the promise that those who create the higher cost of education should be allowed to pay part of the additional cost. Campus rebellions costs money. Demonstrations drag students from classes and otherwise reduces college teaching efficiency.

Under the Goodwin Law a fee system would be established on California campuses. The suggested fee schdule:

Demonstrations, per, participant daily	$10
Sit-in participation	12
Lie-in participation	15
Placard carrying	25
Banner carrying	45
4-Letter Word exhibitions, per word	50
Sexual freedom, each participant	50

(A $2 refund should be made to the female participant)

Read Romans 13.7-14

Let us . . . cast off the works of darkness, and let us put on the armour of light. Let us walk honestly, as in the day. (Romans 13-12-13)

The story Lassie, the idea collie dog, has thrilled many of us. The novel revolves about a poor English family. Hard times had knocked at their door. The father reluctantly decided to sell the dog in order to provide food for the family. Lassie was taken to her new home and housed in a spotless kennel. She paced the cage, and finally scaled the fence and returned to her master, little Joe.

After the happy reunion of the boy and his dog, the boy had to learn a hard lesson in honesty. Lassie had to be returned, for he had been sold The father said, "Sometimes when a chap don't have much Joe, he clings to being honest harder than ever . . . And there's a funny thing about honesty; there's no two ways about it . . . Honest is honest. D'ye see?"

Prayer: Dear God: Thou dost see us as we are; we cannot hide anything from Thee. Help us to order our lives aright and walk honestly that we may feel clean within. In Jesus' name. Amen.

Thought for the day: Honesty may not be easy, but it is essential to a better world.

Mark 3:25

This verse was good for the Bible, good for President Lincoln, and is still good for you and me today. It is difficult for many people to understand why the Chiropractor seeks to correct functional and pathological disease in vital organs by adjusting the spine. He adjusts the spine to improve its structural integrity, thereby removing possible distortion between the central nervous system (brain and spinal cord) and the organs, knowing that if vital energy is not properly delivered to those organs they cannot function properly. This is not a principal recognized by chiropractors alone. It is a physiological fact readily admitted by all schools of healing. Where the condition of the spine is such as to cause interference with the delivery of vital energy, determined by a chiropractor, it is useless to apply palliative (concealing) measures in an effort to stimulate or inhibit normal action. Such procedure merely seeks to relieve the effects. It does not correct the cause. Patch up the sore spots all you will, they still remain sore spots unless the cause for their existence is corrected. Dose the system all you will with medicine to stimulate or inhibit, permanent cure cannot be thus achieved. The power for normal action comes from within. The ability to cure lies within and cures are made by free and natural expression of the internal vital nerve energy.

Your health problem may also respond to chiropratic adjustments. Consult the chiropractor of your choice.

HOUSEHOLD TIPS

Keeping knives sharp is easy if you use a sharpening-honing steel says Mary Ann March, home economist of the Ekco Housewares Company. According to Miss March, to sharpen a knife correctly, hold the steel in your left hand and the knife in your right. In a long gentle stroke, move the entire cutting edge of the blade across the grooved surface of the steel. When one stroke, from the heel of the blade to its tip, has been competed, position the blade under the steel and repeat the motion to sharpen the other side of the blade.

Here's something we should all keep in mind: it's a good idea to familiarize yourself with the list of emergency numbers in the front pages of your phone book. If there's ever a crisis, you can save moments that matter by dialing these numbers yourself. However, if you can't dial the emergency number yourself, just dial "0" for Operator. And please remember to give your location and phone number—that's important.

The Dimmer View

Class disturbance (for each person in the class)	1
Beard wearers, additional fee	10
Bearded and dirty, add	25
Faculty members fee:
Each day of participation in above	$100
Faculty members with beards	150
Faculty with beards and dirty	200

Now we are ready to let anyone demonstrate who wants. The fee for participation would go into the college general operating fund. As a resnlt, the higher cost of operating a campus because of disruptions would be borne by the disrupters. Those who do not participate would not have to pay and for the first time non-participants would be exercising their rights.

It makes more sense that way.

Why Pick on Rhodesia?

Jim Utt, the astute Congressman of the district just north of us, has introduced a Joint Resolution which would bar the United States from taking part in the United Nations sanctions against Rhodesia. The Resolution would also nullify Executive Order no. 11322, issued by the President on Jan. 5. This Order instructs the observance of the sanctions.

Congressman Utt, until recent gerrymandering, was U.S. Representative of district, charges that LBJ's Order is unconstitutional. Art. I, Sect. 8, Para. 3 of the U.S. Constitution vests all authority over trade regulations solely with Congress. Any president, LBJ included, in order to authorize sanctions, must first obtain the approval of the Congress.

The Rhodesian issue, says Utt, is not so much who is right or wrong in the Rhodesian outbreak, as it is whether our Constitution has been abrogated. The Executive Order is based on the authority granted the President under Sect. 5 of the United Nations Participation Act of 1945. How that Act was wormed through Congress is the basis for another study, but the Section gives the President power "notwithstanding the provisions of any other law" to apply such sanctions as the U.N. Security Council may request. The Section provides stiff penalties ($10,000 fine or ten years in prison, or both) for violation.

The law may prohibit transportation, and any means of communication, including postal and telegraphic communication, with any country against whom sanctions have been applied.

Utt points out that the enemy in the war in Viet Nam is being supplied by Great Britain and the British have refused our request to stop doing business with the enemy that is killing American boys every day. And that the U.S. has never sought economic sanctions against its enemy in Viet Nam.

Rhodesia has refrained from engaging in trade with North Viet Nam.

Rhodesia's Declaration of Independence is in the same honored tradition as our own Constitution—so our government takes part in cutting off her water instead of aiding her by giving her full support of a country patterned after our own.

We agree with Utt that the President be authorizied and directed to notify the United Nations that the United States will not honor the United Nations sanctions against Rhodesia.

Learn Spanish the Easy Way

Hardison's Telespanish

by James Hardison

What is "pulque?" It is "una bebida" (a beverage) that has "tickled the innards" of the native of Mexico long before contemporary colas came into being.

In traveling through Mexico one will see in many areas a cactus-like plant with fleshy and spiny margined leaves. It is sometimes referred to as "...M. Xicon agave or century plant. More commonly called "... maguey." (The maguey plant). This plant, as insignificant as it may outwardly appear, is one of the most useful plants in the world. Not only does it produce "pulque." it produces "jabon" (soap), "papel" (paper) and even "ahuja" (needle) with a built-in "hilo" (thread).

The dryed leaves are then used for roof coverings and mat making.

Today's lesson contains some words related to the usefulness of the maguey plant. Read over the expressions and see how useful they may become for you in your learning to speak Spanish. Dial 276-2762 on your telephone for a practice session on them.

Important Expressions:

Say "Que es pulque?" (keh ehs POOL-keh) for "What is pulque?"

Say "Es una bebida." (ehs OO-nah beh-BEE-dah) for "It is a beverage."

Household Expressions:

Say "Como se llama la planta?" (KOH-moh seh YAH-mah lah PLAHN tah)

Say "Se llama maguey." (seh YAH-mah mah-GEH ee) for "It is called maguey."

Other Expressions:

Say "Produce jabon?" (proh-DOO-seh hah-BOHN) for "Does it produce soap?"

Say "Si, produce jabon y papel." (see proh-DOO-seh hah-BOHN ee pah-PEHL) for "Yes, it produces soap and paper."

Income Tax Tips

These tips were supplied by the California Society of Certified Public Accountants. They are presented here to aid you in preparing your personal Federal Income Tax returns.

Retirement Income Credit

Both Federal and California regulations allow a reduction in tax for the "Retirement Income Credit." One important qualification for this benefit specifies that you must have had "earned income" of $600 or more in each of any 10 years prior to the taxable year. But a widow whose spouse received such income is considered to have had "earned income," and in community property states a wife is considered to have earned half of what her husband had earned and vice-versa. So you may in fact qualify for this credit even if you have never directly earned anything during your life.

Computation of the "Retirement Income Credit" is too complex to be discussed in this short space, but the return forms and instructions, if followed carefully, should permit an accurate computation.

To Avoid Excessive Payroll Tax

The increase in withholding rates in 1966 will result in over-withholding on salaries of taxpayers who have large itemized deductions. Consequently, beginning in 1967, taxpayers are permitted to claim extra exemptions which are called withholding "allowances." Each allowance eliminates $700 of annual salary from withholding. The "allowance" is determined based on the taxpayer's estimated 1967 wages and his estimated itemized deductions. The "allowances" are claimed by filing a new Form W-4 with your employer.

In estimating your 1967 wages and itemized deductions, the estimated wages cannot be less than those actually received in 1966 and the estimated deductions cannot be more than you actually deducted in 1966. Failure to conform to actual wage and deduction amounts per your 1966 tax return could result in penalties. Therefore, taxpayers should complete their 1966 tax returns as soon as possible. The earlier in 1967 that the computation of your withholding "allowance" is filed with your employer, the sooner he may reduce the income tax being withheld from your pay check.

'Flying through Water'

Underwater World Fascinates Diver

By Bobbie Meier

The sea, which, as a natural phenomena, couples the treacherous attributes of the unknown with the serenity and beauty of a quiet lady, has afforded movie makers great locations for adventure films; authors have employed seaside environments, from stormy whales to romantic Tahiti, as a backdrop for the enduring love stories, sustained through the ages; songwriters and poets verbally extol humanity's fascination of the unknown, writing about the sea; and vacationers throng to its seasonal attractions.

The ocean, an organic body covering nearly two thirds of the earth's surface, has witnesed world wars; tragedy has been cradled in her wet waves, and yet, its reckless, omnious facade never dissuades the curious.

Great minds over the centuries have, in relation to the sea, pondered the infintismal. Modern man's reaction to this unconquerable, foreboding body of water has been applied in various directions of endeavor.

Scientific advancements have been made in the field of ocenography, with the study of algae and lichen; or the project of water conversion; economical approaches have been rendered to the sea, as is a vast warehouse of virgin materials . . . coal, vegetation, and food, in fact fisherman, since the days of the apostles, have offered adequate proof of the sea's resources. Military forces, such as the Navy's Underwater Demolition Team (UDT) units have studied the ocean, incorporating their knowledge into methods of strategic warfare and sportsmen have eternally been intrigued by the thrills the sea offers . . sailing, surfing, ice fishing and more specifically diving.

Aesthics have contemplated the sea in terms of the abstract, such as Ernest Hemingway, author of 'The Old Man and The Sea,' and Gertrude Ederly, the American swimming champ, attempted to conquer the unruly waters of the English channel. Underlying the motives of these cited individuals, regardless of their approach and purpose, there lies one common factor, pertinent to each encounter. That is, the challenge afforded to man by an environment other than his own.

It seams to be, reverting back to the 'lady' image, a 'hard-to-get quality', possessed by the sea, that beckons the adventurer.

The sea, in its kaledscopic complexity, fuses fascination with freedom; adventure with necessity; it is the dividing element that dichotimizes the Old World from the New; oppressed people from the free, the exotic from the mundane.

It is within this world of underground mountains and valleys sharks and sunken treasurer sand dollars and seaweed that a local man, Richard W. Long, 29, spends most of his free time.

In the words of the proprietor of Skin Diving Unlimited 7447 University, Ia Mesa, people gain a perspective through diving. Material matters vanish, once one is submerged in the colorful surroundings below sea level. Diving, Long says, becomes an acute part of the diver; mother nature clearlyfocuses, and human life is recognized as valuable.

The diver, equipped with wet suit, fins, weight belt, a 41 pound air tank, and a regulator, takes his own atmosphere with him, into this foreign environment.

Long said he is always amazed to se how tiny creatures exist underwater while human beings must wear manmade equipment, in order to sustain proper temperature pressure, and conditions.

The most graceful sight viewed by Long as he explored the underwater world was a sea lion; and the most alarming, or frightening sight was not other than another human being—a diver!

In conjunction with the military's approach to understanding the sea as an environment, Long designed and manufactured divig dress to be worn in tital saturation diving. This is for the diver exposed to extremely cold conditions for a lengthly period of time.

Long said that the space race is vital, but he also feels that the study of the sea will prove equally beneficial.

Married and the father of three daughters, Long has inaugurated a sense of togetherness among local hobbyists, as he is the originator of two local sport diving clubs, boasting almost 350 members.

Clubmembers of the Unlimiteds, an adult group, and the Jr. Unlimiteds comprised of interested teen-agers, participate in diving activities from Cardiff to the Mexican waters with week-end trips and monthly cook-outs included in the program.

Money is not the object of the three-year old club. It is the spirit of adventure, and the fun of being together with an allied purpose that motivates the two clubs. The motto is 'get out there and do it.'

Underwater diving, in capsule form, was described by competent Long as 'flying through water.'

Marine Sergeant Ronald P. Carlson, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Carlson of 9217 Vista Drive, Spring Valley, has reported for duty at the El Toro Marine Corps Air Station in Santa Ana, Calif.

El Toro is the home of the Third Marine Aircraft Wing, which is an aviation counterpart to a Marine infantry division, constantly in training and ready to move at a moment's notice to any trouble spot in the world.

Helicopters, transports and jets of the wing provide air support for the infantrymen of the First Marine Division and units of the Fleet Marine Force, Pacific based at nearby Camp Pendleton, Calif.

Heartland YMCA Expansion Told

More than 50 area business and professional people heard Heartland YMCA officials tell of an improvement program Tuesday that will cost more than $160,000.

The funds will be spent on the Dallas Ave. facility, according to Albert Marshall, board chairman.

First phase of the development calls for a service building and an uncovered pool. Eventually, the pool would be covered, handball and squash courts, black topping for parking and game areas, and dressing, shower and storage rooms.

Heartland YMCA was organized in 1960 to serve east county areas including Lemon Grove and Spring Valley.

In 1964, the present headquarters building was donated by John A. Davis on land provided by Ed Fletcher Co. and the City of La Mesa.

Horse Show Relics Wanted for Collection

The women of the Soroptimist Club of Lemon Grove are hunting for old programs from the Lemon Grove Horse Show Days. The very first annual "Horse Show and Carnival" was held under the auspices of the Chamber of Commerce way back in 1947. The place was the Mission Rancho and the students at St. John of the Cross school now play tether ball where the horses used to compete.

These busy club women—all having businesses or professions of their own—are contributing their time and interest toward collecting and maintaining a history of Lemon Grove. They thought a complete file of Horse Show programs would add a great deal of information.

Sponsors for the very first one — way back when — were names such as J. A. VanGilse, Milo Twedt, Father Dan O'Donaghue, Tony Sonka and others. It was a two page affair with room for only two advertisers on the back page.

The only other program the Soroptimists has says the "16th Annual Lemon Grove Rodeo." Information is sought for explaining a discrepancy in years. The 16th Annual program gives credit to the 1956 Rodeo Committee Chairmen. Sixteen years following the initial show in 1947 would make the sixteenth show in 1963, it was pointed out.

The programs, when donated, will be housed in a glass case in the Lemon Grove County Library. Programs may also be dropped off at the office of this newspaper and they will be passed on to the group.

Tree Program OK'd For Casa de Oro

County supervisors have agreed in principle to help the Casa de Oro Promotion Committee in a beautification program for the Highway 94 right of way.

The county participation, however, will be limited to getting a permit from the State Division of Highways to allow tree planting in the right of way. This will be done only after the promotion committee has submitted a landscaping plan, approved by the county.

The committee must also agree to maintain the plantings at no cost to the county.

Auto Registration Deadline Approaches

The deadline for 1967 registration of vehicles is less than two weeks away.

Reminders are issued by Department of Motor Vehicles officials throughout the state to motorists who have not yet paid their stautory fees for the year.

Any type of registration may be handled in the 146 DMV field offices; and at over 100 offices of auto clubs and associtions for members. Persons requiring simple renewals only may submit fees with their prepared statement cards at any of 150 temporary registration stations in selected banks in metropolitan areas of the state.

DMV officers emphasize the advantage of application in person, using the recently issued punched-card statements mailed from Sacramento. Such applications result in immediate delivery across the counter of a current year's registration card and the blue sticker that validates the rear license plate for 1967. The sticker is designed to be attached to the upper left corner of the rear plate.

DMV offices are open from 8 to 5, Monday through Friday, and on Saturdays, January 28 and February4, from 8 to noon.

Penalties set forth in the Vehicle Code increase the amounts due the state after midnight Monday, February 6.

Applications may be mailed to the DMV at Sacramento, addresed as shown on the back of the statement cards.

Charlette has several fine wins over international fields, including that in the International Games last summer at Los Angeles.

Three San Diego area girls are in the battle against Charlette. They are Cathy DeStout, Michal Brimm and Cindy Buccuril of the San Diego Mission Belles. All are regarded as fine prospects.
